

THE CUB & SCOUTS BSA ROUNDTABLE

What Is a Roundtable?

Don't let the name Roundtable fool you!
It isn't necessarily round, and you don't need a table.

It's a training know-how-show.

It's the single most important function of the district.

It's the Cub Scout and SBSA program in action.

It's the most effective medium for getting the program to the unit.

It's an information source for leaders.

It's a meeting where leaders can discuss and share what works in their units – success stories!

It's Cub Scout & SBSA leaders having fun learning.

Roundtables are a form of commissioner service and supplemental training for the volunteers at the unit level. It gives them an example for unit meetings, information on policy, events and training ceremonies, and an opportunity to share experiences and enjoy fun and fellowship so they will be able to provide a stronger program for their Scouting unit.

Functions of the Roundtable

The functions of the roundtable are to:

- provide unit leaders with the will-to-do; the morale, enthusiasm, inspiration, and vision that periodically renews the desire to carry on.
- provide unit leaders with the skill-to-do; the skills, techniques, information, program ideas, and the know-how that makes a unit operation successful.

Who Attends Roundtables?

Roundtables are designed for all unit leaders; their assistants, as well as unit committee members and prospective leaders.

Unit commissioners attend the roundtables in which their leaders are involved. This may mean dividing their time between roundtables for Cub and Scouts BSA leaders.
